Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4 and 9 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Forbes, Jr. (Patent no. 4,105,155). A container is disclosed in figure 3 having the features recited in the claims including an opening defined in the top wall adjacent the front as shown in this figure. With reference to figures 5-7, the angle between the bottom wall and side wall appears to be within the parameters claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson (Patent no. 4,044,919) in view of Bauer et al (Patent no. 5,971,153). Olson discloses the claimed subject matter including a container made from a blank material having a dispensing opening as shown in figures 1a and 9. The difference between the claimed subject matter and Olson resides in the angle the bottom wall 13, 13' makes with the front wall. Applicant claims an angle greater than 90 degrees and less than 180 degrees in claim 1.

Bauer et al is cited for the disclosure of a generally trapezoidal container as shown in figures 1 and 5 conforming to the shape of the substrates enclosed therein. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the container of Olson by constructing a bottom wall forming an angle with front wall that is greater than 90 degrees, apparently between 95 to 115 degrees, in order to conform to the shape of the articles packaged thus saving space. With reference to claims 5-7 Olson makes no mention of the material used to construct the blank. However, coated cardboard treated with a moisture barrier and plastic are well known and conventional. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to employ any of these materials as a matter of selection of conventional materials.

With respect to claims 8-12 a false bottom is formed by member 31 and the substrates 23 considered vertically stacked by the folded relationship shown in figure 2.

6. Claims 13 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the prior art as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Emoff et al (Patent no. 6,053,356). Emoff et al teaches a substrate holder 44 mounted to the side of a dispensing unit. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art modify the container of Olson by attaching a holder on the right or left side of the container as taught by Emoff et al, in order to facilitate support of the container for dispensing.

REPLY BY APPLICANT OR PATENT OWNER TO THIS OFFICE ACTION

7. "In order to be entitled to reconsideration or further examination, the applicant or patent owner must reply to every ground of objection and rejection in this Office action. The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. The applicant 's or patent owner 's reply must appear throughout to be a bona fide attempt to advance the application or the reexamination proceeding to final action. A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section.

The reply must be reduced to writing (emphasis added)”, 37 CFR 1.111 (b) in part, see M.P.E.P. 714.02.

Pointing out specific distinctions means clearly indicating in the written response what features/elements or distinctions have been added to the claim/claims, where support is found in the specification for such recitations and how these features are not shown, taught, obvious or inherent in the prior art.

If no amendments are made to claims as applicant or patent owner believes the claims are patentable without further modification, the reply must distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the examiner’s action and must respond to every ground of objection and rejection in the prior Office Action in the same vain as given above, 37 CFR 1.111 (b), M.P.E.P. 714.02.

The examiner also points out, due to the change in practice as affecting final rejections, older decisions on questions of prematurity of final rejection or admission of subsequent amendments do not necessarily reflect present practice. “Under present practice, second or any subsequent actions on the merits shall be final, except where the examiner introduces a new ground of rejection that is neither necessitated by applicant’s amendment of the claims nor based on information submitted in an information disclosure statement filed during the period set forth in 37 CFR 1.97(c)” (emphasis mine), see MPEP 706.07(a).
